The starting point for data collection has been the Digital Trade Estimates database by the European Center for International Political Economy (ECIPE). The methodology has been updated, and the coverage expanded thanks to the partnership with several academic institutions and international organisations. In particular, we list below the institutions that contributed to data collection and the respective countries that have been included in the DTI database with their contribution:

- The London School of Economics, Hertie School, and Bocconi University: 27 Member States of the European Union, Canada, Norway, United Kingdom, and the United States;
- The Digital Cooperation Organization (DCO): Bahrain, Kuwait, Morocco, Oman, and Saudi Arabia;
- The UN Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (UN-ECLAC): Argentina, Barbados, Belize, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Jamaica, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Suriname, Trinidad and Tobago, Uruguay, and Venezuela;
- The UN Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (UN-ESCAP): Australia, Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, China, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Japan, Jordan, Kazakhstan, Korea, Lao PDR, Malaysia, Nepal, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, the Russian Federation, Singapore, Taiwan, Thailand, Turkey, Vanuatu, and Vietnam;
